One would often ponder, will there be room service in hell's fire? Yes, already you are startled, for the title of this tract in this place suggest some sort of menu of luxury added to your room. However, while lodging here, will you ponder the question, whether there will be room service in hell's fire. To most this question seems ridiculous. But if it be, why would it? Simply because room service or the lure of such luxury is contradictory to the purpose of hell's fire. In other words, there will be no room service in hell's fire! If that be the case, and it is, while enjoying the luxury of this stay why not ponder what will be state of your eternal stay. It makes sense to think about one's retirement plan while receiving the luxury of a salary, to even affording this stay. Wouldn't it make more sense, while enjoying this life to ponder the after life; especially, if like a retirement plan you can invest in that after life. You see, though there is no room service in hell's fire after death but torment, there is room service in death for those who die in the Lord. You might feel safe and secure enjoying this present luxury, but if it is one thing that is sure is death; even if you're an atheist, you will affirm this. But what you might not affirm now is the tenets of hell or hell's fire, reason being, you're never experience it or no one had told what faith awaits. But simply because you have not experience it doesn't mean you shouldn't plan or prepare for it. You've never experience old age, yet if you're smart, you set aside thousands of dollars for it; yet it comes and goes. Similarly, you've never experience death but it comes and stays; if you were really smart you would set aside even more time and energy towards this retirement plan.

But just to help and open your understanding to this investment, take this explanation of actual persons in hell's fire. Even though you've never experience old age you hear of and see what becomes of them, and is prompt to plan. Similarly, this real experience of persons in hell or death should do the same if you are really smart.

Firstly, at my school's campus across the street is a construction of a luxury High rising waterfront Condominium. Then not far away is the main Jail in Broward County; one beachfront area with two separate buildings of different kind of residences. One has prisoners that live in relative torment under confinement, while the other has upper class citizens enjoying the luxury of freedom. This is much how hell is. But don't take my word for it, here is the scripture reference from the word of God:

"There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day: And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table: moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: the rich man also died, and was buried; And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence. Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house: For I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment. Abraham saith unto him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them. And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead" (Luke 16:19-31).

This is not a parable, as most think, but rather an actual event. Reason being, in parables names are not mentioned; parables are typifications. Jesus, who is God, can look and see any and everywhere simultaneously (Jer 23:24). Now, what had happen here was that Lazarus, a beggar, died and a Rich man died also. Both ended up in the grave as related here, "And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom" (v 23). But to the rich man's surprise he saw that hell had two parts - torment and Paradise - and he was in the torment section. Note that he was in a state of consciousness and felt the pains of torment though not relieve from it. Then to add to the fact that this was real, he beckoned to the famous Patriarch of Old, Abraham; who was in the Paradise section of hell. But notice that Abraham told him that between them is a great gulf fixed that anyone from either side cannot cross to or from. Similar to the jail and luxury condo's on Las Olas Blvd, down town Ft. Lauderdale. A jailer cannot get up and walk to the condo's, neither can anyone just walk into a jail. The policemen represent the angels that have diplomatic immunity; to take people who have died to their respective waiting quarters, awaiting trial in the resurrection (Rev 20).

Another surprising thing is the last request of the rich man. When he saw what had happen to him he begged Abraham to send someone from the dead to his brothers to warn them, perhaps seeing someone from hell they would believe. But Abraham said, "If they hear not Moses and the prophets [Bible], neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead" (v 31).

Never has a saying been so true, because despite the fact that Jesus Christ went to hell, came back and showed himself to many, still you have people today that will not repent; even though "one went unto them from the dead" (v 30), as the rich man puts it.

My friend it is certain that death awaits and by this simple explanation of hell, you are left with a decision. Whether to go on living without repenting or feel convicted and decide to make a change. With the first you'll definitely end up in torment for a long while and cry out to me on the other side to bring you some water, when I simply cannot help you then. I have the chance to do so now, by telling you this truth. If you're smart and choose to repent, that is, make up your mind to follow Christ and turn your back on your former life, then here is what you must do, "be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38). Information at the bottom of his tract to aid you.
